

English 1100 R15 – Summer 2010

English 1100 integrates the studies of reading, thinking, and writing. Students will apply principles of rhetoric, analysis, and academic writing in written responses to selected readings.

Bernett Cody: R2470

Office Hour: Thursday 3:00 - 4:00

Email: bernett.cody@kwantlen.ca

Required text: Essay Writing for Canadian Students. 6th ed. Eds. Kay L. Stewart, et al. Prentice Hall, 2008. The text is available in Kwantlen bookstores.

Assignments:

All assignments are submitted online and are due Thursday before midnight of the dates indicated below. If you have problems submitting the work on the dates indicated, please contact me as soon as possible. I will accept late assignments, but only if you have contacted and we've had a chance to discuss the reason the assignment it is late.

Essay 1	15%	June 10
draft/peer editing		May 30
Essay 2	15%	July 15
draft/peer editing		July 5
Essay 3	20%	August 12
draft/peer editing		August 2
Mid-term Exam	15%	June 24
Final Exam	25%	August 19
Weekly "read and respond"	10%	Every Week

Reading Assignments:

Each week students will read one chapter from the "Rhetoric" section of our text, Essay Writing for Canadian Students and one essay from the "Readings" section. See "reading schedule."

Group Work:

All students will be assigned to a small group of three students. Within each group, students will circulate and discuss their essays and peer edit each other's work. Students are expected to participate in the group work. Once you have submitted your draft and have responded to the work those in your group have submitted, I will critique your intro paragraph before you need to submit your essay for grades.

Policy on cheating and plagiarism: Kwantlen Policy.